Monday Hub November to January.

Our winter Monday gatherings in Somerleyton Village Hall began with the welcome return of Nanna Ley. We were treated to demonstrations and tastings of delicious Danish Christmas goodies as well as hearing about Danish Christmas traditions.

In December the Green and Environment Group presented advice and ideas on how to help wildlife through winter, information on migration, a recycling quiz and Lindsay Martin led a session on making fat ball feeders for the birds – lucky birds in Somerleyton.

On January 13th local historian Ivan Bunn gave a fascinating talk to a packed hall on Samuel Morton Peto his life and associations with Somerleyton and Lowestoft.

Coffee, tea and cakes were enjoyed at all the sessions and we are pleased to have volunteers to support with the refreshments and organising the hall.
Many regulars from last winter have joined us again and some new faces. The Warm Hub sessions are much valued by the community and we are grateful to East Suffolk Enabling Community Budget and Councillor Paul Ashdown for their continued support.
